

Gokov Rajapmohammed – a student of the Faculty of foreign languages shares his opinion about studying in Belarus and why he chose Mogilev State A.Kuleshov University.

I am Gokov Rajapmohammed. Four years ago I came to Belarus to get higher education. Now I'd tell you how it was, and why I chose Mogilev State A.Kuleshov University.

I was born in the city of Ashgabat. I studied in the secondary school №42 in the Russian department, in the music class. A year before graduating the school, my parents and I were thinking, where I would study next and at what faculty. First I wanted to get a specialty connected with medicine, since I have had good knowledge in this area, I liked anatomy and wanted to become a doctor. Immediately I told my parents about my desire, they said that there is a good university in Belarus, in Vitebsk and I was told that in this country they give a good education, but the medical profession has been too hard, and parents insisted that I went to an interpreter, as well as my older sister, who has no problem with her job. I did not argue with my parents and agreed. At that time I did not know where to go. I had a whole year ahead to think, and I decided to study hard. I trained with tutors, each day I went to English language courses in different educational centers. I had a desire to learn languages, but I didn't decide where to go. My cousin studies in the city of Gorki in Belarus, he is the head of Turkmen students in this city. He told me of Belarusian universities, the country, its education, culture and good attitude towards foreign students. Later I learned that one of my friends is also going to enter Mogilev State A.Kuleshov University, the Faculty of Foreign Languages, where students can learn not only English, but also a second foreign language. Then I found out some information about the university, students praised it highly and at the same time they said that training there is not so easy, as it requires diligent effort to obtain good knowledge, but I was not scared, because without knowledge you can't achieve anything.

I remember that it was hard to leave my native home. My parents knew that the climate is not such as in Turkmenistan, and I had the feeling as if I was going to the North Pole. As it later turned out it is not very cold here. When I arrived I had an advantage as I was fluent in Russian and knew English, which helped me to enter the first year. Later I found a lot of friends, and what is more important to me, I discovered a new talent. I should say thanks to my teachers. I became interested in literature as well, and now I am writing poems and songs and as I learned music in school, I can compose it by myself.

I have a younger brother who likes the German language, he will finish school soon and how do you think, where he is going to apply? Of course, Mogilev State A.Kuleshov University.

There are many departments at our university, and the university is considered to be one of the best in Belarus. The staff is excellent, the attitude to foreign nationals is wonderful, all the competitions and concerts for students in the dormitory are never boring, and certainly there are all conditions for study and preparation for the session. In general, I can give advice: do your best in training, come and enter MSKU and you will not regret that you have chosen our university.
