From May 5 to 18, 2025 Anastasiya Kovaleva and Anastasiya Platonova, students from the State Social and Humanitarian University of Kolomna, Russia, completed an internship at the Faculty of Foreign Languages of Mogilev State A. Kuleshov University. The internship program was diverse. The interns attended more than 20 classes in the disciplines of the specialty "Romano-Germanic Philology", where they learned various methods and technologies of teaching foreign languages, English literature and other related disciplines, and attended a number of extracurricular events.

"Our internship at Mogilev State A. Kuleshov University left us with exceptionally positive impressions. From the first days, we felt a warm and supportive atmosphere, which helped us adapt quickly. The lecturers are true professionals – their classes were not only informative, but also exciting. The internship supervisors were always in touch, promptly resolved organizational issues and gave useful recommendations, which made the process as comfortable as possible.

We would also like to note that the Faculty of Foreign Languages actively develops creative and educational activities. We were given a unique opportunity to attend events within the framework of the Days of the Department of Romano-Germanic Philology, where students demonstrated their professional and creative skills. We were especially impressed by the speech competition "Along the Roads of the Great Victory", where students noted the importance of remembering the heroes and events during the Great Patriotic War.

In addition, the Faculty of Foreign Languages provided us with the opportunity to take part in the Victory Parade on May 9, to visit the Trostenets Memorial Complex, and also the Loshitsa Manor and Park Complex.

The internship at Mogilev State A. Kuleshov University exceeded our expectations: we not only deepened our professional knowledge, but also gained confidence in our abilities, inspiration for further growth and a lot of pleasant memories," the interns shared their impressions.
