Brief content of the academic discipline:

The academic discipline “Belarusian lexicography” introduces students to the history of origin and formation, current state and directions of the theory and practice of compiling dictionaries. Lexicography represents a word in the combination of all its properties, so a dictionary is not only a unique and indispensable means of language learning, but also an important means for scientific research. In addition, literary norms are fixed in lexicographic publications, which contribute to improving literacy and speech culture. Knowledge of Belarusian lexicography is necessary to understand the ways and means of forming the Belarusian national language, forecasting its further development in the context of state Belarussian-Russian bilingualism.
