Brief content of the academic discipline:

Solving the problems of education and upbringing of the younger generation, finding optimal ways of transferring the accumulated social experience to them is one of the pressing tasks of our time. In order to organize the educational process it is necessary to master the principles, methods, mechanisms, ways and forms of joint activities, assistance in self-realization and self-actualization of a child's personality. General pedagogical knowledge is the basis on which all the technologies of educational work are built.
