

Name of the discipline:
«Theoretical Grammar»

Specialty code and name	1-21 05 06 Romano-Germanic Philology
Year of study	3
Semester of study	5
Number of in-class academic hours	48
Lectures	20
Seminars	-
Practical classes	28
Laboratory classes	-
The form of the current assessment (credit / differentiated credit / exam)	exam
Number of credits	3
Emerging competencies	Search, analyze and evaluate information necessary for the formulation and solution of research tasks; analyze language facts in terms of their content, form and speech intention, taking into account the specifics and patterns of functioning of units of different language levels (phonemic, morphemic, lexical); communicate in a foreign language, taking into account the peculiarities of its grammatical system

Summary of the academic discipline:

The discipline "Theoretical Grammar" is aimed at developing a holistic view of all units of English grammar with an understanding of their general and specific properties and patterns of interaction, differentiation of grammatical meaning and other types of meanings in the language, identifying the relationship between form and content, determining syntagmatic and paradigmatic properties of units of modern English, their use in speech based on functional and communicative approach to the grammar of the language. Special attention is paid to the consideration of problems, methods and procedures of linguistic analysis.