

Academic discipline:
«Methods of collecting sociological information»

Code and name of specialty	1-23 01 05 Sociology
Training course	1/2
Semester of training	2/3/4
Number of class hours:	36
Lectures	18
Seminar classes	18
Practical classes	-
Laboratory classes	-
Form of current assessment (credit/differential credit/exam)	-/ credit/exam
Number of credits	12
Competencies to be formed	Mastering the discipline « Methods of collecting sociological information » should ensure the formation of basic professional competencies: to justify the choice of methods for collecting sociological information and to use them to solve professional problems; to conduct sociological research using qualitative methods of collecting information.
Summary of the content of the academic discipline:
« Methods of collecting sociological information » is an academic discipline that introduces the main methods of collecting sociological information to students. The content of the discipline includes work in the following areas: mastering the methods and techniques of conducting applied sociological research by students; consideration of the main classifications of methods for collecting sociological information; mastering the procedure for preparing sociological tools; understanding the essence of qualitative and quantitative methods of collecting primary sociological information, its generalization and analysis; formation of skills to select methods for collecting sociological data in accordance with the goals and objectives of sociological research; formation of skills to combine methods of collecting sociological information.	