

Academic discipline:

Code and name of specialty	1-23 01 05 Sociology
Training course	3
Semester of training	5
Number of class hours:	18
Lectures	12
Seminar classes	4
Practical exercises	-
Laboratory classes	-
Form of intermediate assessment (credit/differential credit/exam)	exam
Number of credits	4
Competencies to be formed	Be able to characterize the main socio-economic processes and interactions; take into account the social consequences of economic activity, analyze the role of socio-economic problems in a person's personal life; correlate economic development with the social goals of society; use the possibilities of the human factor in the activities of labor organizations and sectors of the economy
Summary of the content of the academic discipline: "Economic Sociology" is an academic discipline, the purpose of which is to master students with theoretical and applied knowledge about social processes and phenomena in the economy, which will give them the opportunity to understand social mechanisms and reserves of economic development. The study of economic sociology allows for a deeper understanding of the laws of the functioning of social mechanisms that regulate economic relations and determine the type of economic behavior of economic entities in a market environment. In the process of mastering the discipline, students are expected to acquire the skills of sociological analysis of economic processes; study the basic concepts and features of the method of economic sociology; assimilation of the principles of sociological modeling and forecasting of economic processes.	