

Academic discipline:
"Municipal and settlement sociology"

Code and name of specialty	1-23 01 05 Sociology
Training course	3
Semester of training	5
Number of class hours:	8
Lectures	4
Seminar classes	4
Practical exercises	-
Laboratory classes	-
Form of intermediate assessment (credit/differential credit/exam)	credit
Number of credits	3
Competencies to be formed	To conduct applied sociological research on various social aspects of settlement functioning; to master the methodology of working with statistical sources on population and settlement issues; to know the main methodological examples of social forecasting of changes in the territorial organization of the population; to be able to describe and give a scientific interpretation to the results of sociological research on the territorial settlement structure
Summary of the content of the academic discipline:
"Municipal and settlement sociology" is an academic discipline that aims at expanding students' knowledge in the field of social management within the subject field of sociology in conjunction with the theory of interaction between the state and local government, the sociology of politics, and the formation of skills to analyze socio-economic and political processes in various territorial settlement formations. The acquired knowledge will make it possible to understand the functioning of the system of local authorities correctly, form and make informed management decisions during the analysis of local socio-economic and political processes.	